

A dramatic movie poster for 'The Day After Tomorrow'. The scene is set in a dark, cavernous space. A large, multi-limbed alien creature with thick, segmented limbs is positioned in the upper left. A man in a space helmet, with a bright yellow laser beam emanating from his visor, is on the right, aiming the beam at the creature. In the center, a woman with long, flowing blonde hair is shown in a dynamic, possibly falling or being held, pose. The background is filled with dark, rocky structures and some debris. The overall color palette is dark with highlights from the laser and the woman's hair.

THE DAY
THE BUDGET STOOD STILL